I believe in God the only one who created the universe. Scripture shows us that God is three in one, that is God the Father, God the son also called Jesus Christ, and God the Holy Spirit. I believe God the Father loved the world and that He sent his only begotten Son to the world to save it. I believe God to be my Father as Jesus Christ revealed him to me and all of us.

I believe Jesus Christ to be God in the flesh who came to the world to save and seek the lost. I believe Jesus Christ is my life and my Head as I am his body. He is my Lord and Saviour. I believe Jesus is the Messiah of Israel and He is the ordained King eternal, who is the King of Kings.

I believe in God the Holy Spirit who is present with me. The Holy Spirit is my seal sent by the Father to preserve me till the day of redemption. The Holy Spirit is the earnest that is down payment that gives me the guarantee that God will accomplish what He started in me.

I believe the Church to be the body of Christ. I believe the church is the light and salt of the world. The church is the vehicle of Christ to display his life to the world. I believe in the communion of the saints, and that the Sacraments are symbols of our oneness. The Sacrament of Holy Communion is a reminder for us of the sacrifice of Jesus Christ for us till He comes.

The major issue facing the Church today is identity crisis. The Church as forgotten what it is. The Church is walking headless in my opinion. We are one body, therefore we should understand some in the Church are the eyes and some are the hands. We should understand that the eye functions differently from the hand. Therefore we should walk in understanding towards our brothers and sisters. I am called to be part of the Church to remind the Church of its identity.
